Thank you for your interest in SPARK Saturdays!

SPARK Saturdays will run from 9:45am - 12:00pm, and will be held on the following days this semester:

| | |
|-------------|-----------------------|
| February 18 | Smart Light Lab |
| March 4 | Boolean Logic Lab |
| March 25 | Radio Lab |
| April 8 | Programming Lab |
| April 29 | Energy Harvesting Lab |

Our labs build on each other, so to help students gain the most from their experience in the program, and because space is limited, we ask that students attend ALL of the sessions listed above. We understand if emergencies arise; in the event that your student cannot make one of the sessions, please contact Madison Scott at mlscott@andrew.cmu.edu.

Details about the exact locations of the labs and directions will be communicated through email. If this is inconvenient for you, please let us know when you return your forms and we will arrange to let you know by phone.

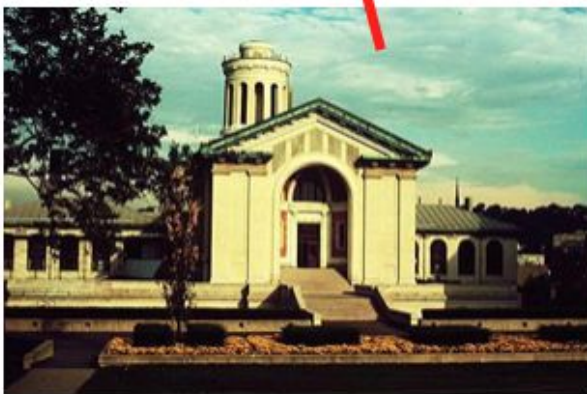

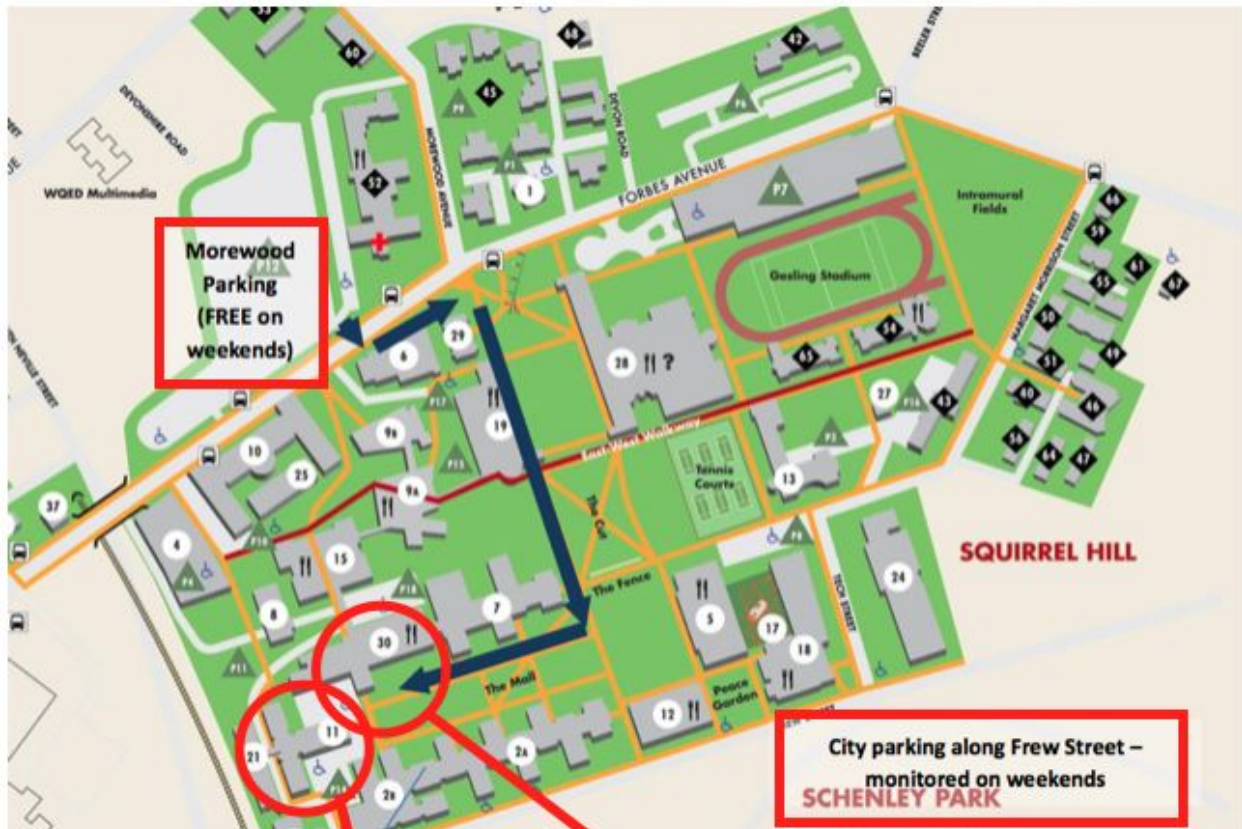

The city of Pittsburgh monitors parking on Saturdays. If you choose to park along Frew Street near Flagstaff Hill to drop off your child, please keep in mind that parking here is paid. Both the parking lot on Forbes, just west of Morewood Avenue, and the parking garage are open on Saturdays, and you can park there for free. There are several places for parents to sit, if you would like to stay on campus during the labs – we can point these out to you.

Please complete the release form on the third page of this document, then mail it and your student's $5 registration fee by Wednesday, February 15 to:

Bari Morchower
Carnegie Mellon University
5000 Forbes Avenue, 1302 Hamerschlag Hall
Pittsburgh, PA 15213

If this is inconvenient, please feel free to send the release form and fee with your student to the first session, but keep in mind that we cannot allow your student to participate in the labs without a signed release form on file. If you have any questions, please email Madison Scott at mlscott@andrew.cmu.edu or by phone at (567) 395-2440.
